SUMMARY OF EXPERIENCE REQUIREMENTS FOR CERTIFICATION

An applicant for certification must have at least six (6) years of responsible professional-level experience in health physics as of July 1 of the year in which the examination is to be taken. At least three (3) of the years of experience must have been in applied health physics. The six (6) years of professional experience, which must be documented by an applicant for Part II of the examination, must be experience which demonstrates that the applicant has been required to exercise professional-level judgment in one or more of the following areas:

- Establishment and/or evaluation of a radiation protection program;
- Design and/or evaluation of the design of the radiation protection aspects of a facility;
- design and implementation of a radiation protection training course or program;
- development of an experimental and/or measurement program designed to answer radiation protection-related questions;
- evaluation of measurement data;
- analysis and solution of radiation protection problems;
- preparation, interpretation, and implementation of recommendations and regulations

A master of science degree in health physics or a closely related area may, at the discretion of the Board, be substituted for one year of professional experience; a Ph.D. may be substituted for two years. In no case will technician-level experience be accepted as meeting the experience requirements.

Please refer to the ABHP Prospectus for a complete listing of requirements for certification.
